End Human Trafficking Now

Aleya El Bindari Hammad is Chair of the Board of the United Nations Voluntary Trust Fund for Victims of Human Trafficking, and Chair of the Women's Leadership Council of the United Nations Global Initiative to Fight Human Trafficking (UN.GIFT). In 2009, UNODC appointed her as Goodwill Advisor on Business Community Action to Combat Human Trafficking.

Concerned with the increase in the level of violence, conflicts and wars worldwide, and its harmful effect on women and children, she is dedicating much of her efforts in peace-building initiatives and fostering a culture of peace. She is a member of several eminent boards, including the Board of the New York Academy of Medicine, and the Advisory Board of the Geneva Centre for Democratic Control of Armed Forces (DCAF).

Dr. Hammad devoted her career to public health issues, with a focus on improving the quality of life of disadvantaged and vulnerable groups. She served for more than 30 years as a high level UN staff member to the World Health Organisation (WHO), where she was appointed Executive Director/Assistant Director General. She was also Chair of the International Advisory Board, Wagner School of Public Service; and Visiting Professor, New York University and George Washington University, Center for International Health.

Dr. Hammad is the holder of many awards, the highest of which is the Gold Medal of Honour for services rendered in 1986 by the President of Egypt. She received her Ph.D. in Education and M.Sc. in Public Health from Boston University. She also received a B.Sc. in Nursing from the University of Alexandria, Egypt.

About “End Human Trafficking Now”

End Human Trafficking Now (EHTN) is the first worldwide initiative to engage the private sector in anti-trafficking efforts, with voluntary contributions by corporations for specific activities. Whilst striving to put an end to human trafficking altogether, EHTN seeks to integrate the business community into the solution of ending this illicit trade – enforcing its vision of zero tolerance to human trafficking and acknowledging good business practices. EHTN was founded on the 23rd January 2006 during the roundtable of the business community against human trafficking in Athens, Greece. It is an independent international association officially registered under Swiss Law.

Vision

- Zero tolerance to human trafficking.

Mission

- Partner with corporations/businesses and international organizations to eliminate human trafficking worldwide.
- Assist corporations/businesses in adopting zero tolerance policies and contributing to the prevention and elimination of human trafficking.
- Make “End Human Trafficking Now” synonymous with businesses’ engagement in the fight against human trafficking worldwide.

Objectives

- Enhance and extend the role of the private sector in combating human trafficking.
- Prevent trafficking by raising awareness and by investing in programs that benefit populations most at risk.
- Develop business tools to support the private sector in combating human trafficking.
- Acknowledge and communicate worldwide, positive business initiatives in combating human trafficking.
